And selling it plentifully, too; but we are not selling it at cost. Nor are we selling it "way below cost" That is not what we are in business for; and, besides, we don't have to, in order to meet any competition in this market

—o—

We think we are selling all papers as low as anybody, and we know we are selling many papers less than everybody.

—o—

We are willing to leave it to the decision of wall paper buyers, if we are not showing the largest, finest line of wall paper in this market.

A Queer Mistake.

He paid the wrong ladies. Two women, strangers, called at A. L. Stead's meat shop formerly Weigle's place) and asked pay for a critter. Mr. Stead supposing that they were the women folks of a party of whom he had recently purchased a steer, paid the ladies $36.40. Now it appears that the party to whom he actually owes that amount has not been paid. The ladies, it would appear, dunned the wrong butcher and now Mr. Stead desires them to call again that the mistake may be rectified.

—This on the day of the convention was not so slow in the Chicago Tribune: "Now as touching the Democratic candidate for Governor of Illinois—but that's exactly what the boys are doing."

—The Hon. Wm. Morrison is said to be disgusted with the notion that the Democrats are limited to the state of New York in their choice of a Presidential candidate. Col. Morrison thinks it is a hard case, if the Democrats cannot form a Presidential ticket "without the Tammany brand blown in the neck of the bottle." There appears to be considerable fault found with the docile manner in which the Illinois partisans in convention at Springfield last week threw up the sponge and left Palmer in the lurch.

—From the various accounts concerning the speech of Judge Cobb, of Georgia, on the contested election case in the House the other day, we infer that he is of the same family as the Mr. Cobb who, being in a merry mood, entered into conversation with Mr. Beecher on a railroad train. "You must remember me Mr. Beecher," said he. "My name is Cobb." "Oh, yes, yes," said Mr. Beecher, "I suppose the reason why I did not recognize you at first was because you've got so much corn on."

Practical Difficulties of Road-Making.

Des Moines Homestead: We have had bad roads this winter and the usual discussion relative to methods to mend them. All sorts of suggestions have been given. The difficulty is and will remain, we have no material to make roads out of. Some counties have not a gravel bank or stone quarry in their bounds. How are roads to be made there? One thing can be done. The roads can be put in proper shape and in wet places underdrained. This will give us good, natural roads, excepting in spring thaws, when the weather changes often before it settles for summer. We think the time will come when steel rails will be laid along the main roads, and the space between improved by some means. Plank is out of the question, gravel is not often to be had within 100 miles. Macadam is not practical for want of rock to make it out of. Brick would cost too much yet. Asphalt does not exist in sufficient quantities known to the world. Invention may evolve a process of hardening our clays sufficiently and cheaply, but all that most neighborhoods can do will be to shape up the roads so as to shed off the rains. The soil from the hill tops improve the surface of the roads in the more mucky lowlands. This is an evil attendant upon our rich lomy soil that would be a blessing to many farming countries that have nothing to grow crops on but road material. We suppose it would annoy a fly to drown in molasses, or a toper to perish in a butt of beer, or those who like to tickle their noses to smother in a puncheon of snuff, and it does annoy an Iowa man to have bad roads now and then, because the soil is all so good, but we would "rather bear the ills we have than fly to others we know not of."

Protection Insures General Prosperity.

True to their tactics of making grist of everything that can be dragged into the free trade hopper, the workers for that policy are now pointing to the phenomenal growth of cities and villages disclosed by the last census as proof of their allegation that one section of the country is necessarily built up at the expense of another. And because under the ægis of a discriminating tariff we have been enabled to found and maintain innumerable centers of industry in this country instead of supporting those established abroad, Protection is pointed at as an evil to be denounced wherever a "reformer" can find hearers, and voted out of existence in accordance with the desire of traders whose palms itch after profit to be realized from the sale of foreign goods to American consumers.

In this connection the free trade attorneys seek to steal the livery of Protection in which to parade their alien bantling of tariff reform. Every hive of industry that raises its pillar of cloud by day and fire by night stands a monument to the wisdom of those tariff measures inaugurated by the founders of the republic, and without which we would even yet be buying clothing and machinery from Europe and paying for them in such farm products as foreigners preferred to accept at their own prices. It was the avowed object of Protection to extend manufactures in the United States—not only to make certain the desired relief from dependence upon outside nations for the necessaries of life, but to insure continued domestic prosperity by giving to farmers a certain and profitable market through the employment of the largest possible percentage of workers in other than agricultural pursuits.

It is the people thus employed who have so amazingly increased the population of cities and villages, and to the extent that by reason of a diversity of industries the workers thus congregated are enabled to earn fair wages and become liberal buyers, to that extent does their increase in numbers become a benefit to every farmer who has a surplus to sell. To make this matter more plain THE TELEGRAPH need but suggest that the increase of population here in Dixon enhances the value of every farm in this vicinity. The manufacturing establishments recently started here enriches the farmers as well as the people of the city. Every workman thus employed in the United States is ten times the better consumer of American farm products than any man similarly employed in Europe This because the foreigner only buys here what he cannot get cheaper somewhere else, and his interest and aim is to render payment for this easier than now by keeping his money at home and compelling us to allow him a profit on wares that he makes for sale.

Here is to be found the inspiration of opposition to our policy of fostering home industries. And if the issue is ever decided in accordance with foreign dictation and the efforts of such citizens as have undertaken to bring public sentiment in line therewith, the inevitable decadence of our national prosperity will fall upon no interest more disastrously than that of the farmer. He will then be forced to see, if he cannot now see, that our phenomenal urban growth is an adjunct of national prosperity, without which his own calling would present no hope for bettering the condition of himself and those for whom he now so willingly labors.

FOUR BILLS OF INTEREST PASSED.

Republicans Treated to a Surprise by Bryan, Who Gets the Free Binding Twine Measure Through—Vest Intimates That There Was Boodle in the Fair Location—The Pension Office Inquiry—Some Talk of Duels—Trouble Ahead with Italy—Monthly Financial Exhibit.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The house took a fit of industry yesterday and also advantage of the fact that it was suspension day, and did a day's work that was not all wind. The first bill called up under the suspension of the rules was one that admits to American registry a limited number of high class steamships already running in established lines, of not less than 8,000 tons, with a speed of not ess than twenty knots per hour. The parties obtaining registers for such vessels must contract for the construction in American shipyards of an equal amount of tonnage with that of the foreign built steamships which are to become Americanized. It passed without trouble. Then came a bill to pension the survivors of the Black Hawk, Creek, Cherokee and Seminole Indian wars. It passed also.

Surprised the Republicans.

After the passage of a bill which will open the northern half of the Colville reservation in Washington to settlement at $1.50 per acre, the Republicans were surprised to hear Bryan, the Nebraska champion of free trade, move the suspension of the rules and passage of the bill putting binding twine on the free list. Burrows said he did not think that Bryan seriously intended to pass a bill that way, without notice to the minority. But Burrows did not know Bryan, for the latter remarked that such was his intention, and he asked for a vote.

Skirmishing for a Quorum.

It was first necessary to find a Democratic quorum and this took half an hour. Then fifteen minutes were given each side for debate, in which Payne of New York charged the Democracy with fishing for the farmer vote with a ball of free binding twine for bait, and Hatch was not surprised that the Republicans opposed the bill as they opposed, he said, every attempt to take burdens off the people. The bill passed—185 to 47—Coburn of Wisconsin and Covert of New York, Democrats, voting no, and Broderich, Pickler and Jolley, Republicans, voting aye.

Holman Gives 'Em Warning.

While all this going on so smoothly it was not to be wondered that some bill with an appropriation attached should find its way to a vote. Thus it was that a bill was passed to established a military post at or near Helena, Mont., and appropriating $100,000 therefor. Holman opposed to the bill and warned the house that their faces would turn pale when they discovered the lavish expenditure being made by the passage of bills in this way without proper and due consideration.

Vest Says "I Told You So."

In the senate Vest took occasion (while expressing contempt for certain petitions threatening congressmen, if they did not use their influence for a closed World's fair on Sunday, with trouble over re-election), to make some imputations on the World's fair management. The World's fair committee had found, in nosing around the finances of the fair, that $90,000 had been spent in locating the fair, and he wanted to know who got the money. He was sorry to say that the committee had found just what he expected it to do. The statement was received in silence, although it contained a plain charge of boodlery.

CHARGED IT TO GREEN B., JR.,

But Payson Finds in Writing Another View of the Case.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Captain J. D. Rhodes, an attorney who was disbarred by Commissioner Raum, was before the pension inquiry committee yesterday. He presented the correspondence between himself and Commissioner Raum and said that he believed he was disbarred because of a disagreement between Green B. Raum Jr., over a horse trade. Witness wanted $175 for a horse and young Raum wanted to pay $75 cash and $100 worth of pension office influence in making claims special. Witness declined, and told Raum that he was not then in the pension business. General Raum disbarred him, saying that it was because of many complaints of violating the rules of the bureau.

First Denies, Then Admits.

Judge Payson cross-examined the witness and was evidently "loaded" for him. The witness denied writing a letter in which certain uncomplimentary epithets were applied to Commissioner Raum, but when Judge Payson read the letter, witness acknowledged its authorship with the exception of the word "old" as descriptive of Raum. Witness said he meant it then, endorses it now and never shall change his opinion.

Lacks Something of Consistency.

Judge Payson read a letter written to General Raum by witness and dated Dec 14, 1891, four days later than the former, in which Rhodes says to the commissioner that he shall do his duty now as a gentleman and make an apology in a truthful mander. The letter further states that he perused the commissioner's letter to him, and says that he could not help but feel the tinge of shame creep over his face while perusing his own words quoted in the letter: "I spoke of you in a very improper manner and I swear it was uncalled for, and if you will extend your sympathies in my behalf to forgive me in my impropriety, I promise, upon my honor as a man, my reputation as a soldier and my standing as an attorney, to never be guilty of a like production while I live."

Concludes to Stand by No. 1.

Judge Payson put in evidence numerous letters containing charges against Rhodes, one from A. T. Bovard which contains serious charges, some of which were of a criminal character. Several letters from officials recommending Rhodes' disbarment were read by Judge Payson and put in evidence. After a severe cross-examination the witness concluded his answers to Judge Payson's questions by saying that he stood by the first letter read by Payson, and he would not retract a word.

Brief Record of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—In the senate yesterday Vest, in handing up a petitition protesting against opening the World's Fair on Sunday, and threatening to taboo all congressmen who failed to support the closing of the exposition on Sunday, said that as a senator he should vote on the question without paying the slightest attention to these threats. After business of a routine nature the senate went into secret session on the Russian and French extradition treaties. At 4.10 the doors were reopened and the senate adjourned.

The house passed several important bill under suspension of the rules, including the bill to place binding twine on the free list, a bill to authorize a register as vessels of the United States to such foreign built steamships of 8,000 tons and over sailing in an established line from a port within the United States, of which not less than 90 per cent. of the foreign capital was owned by citizens of the United States; and granting a pension of $8 per month to the survivors of the Blackhawk, Creek, Cherokee and Seminole wars. The consular and diplomatic bill was debated for an hour and the house adjourned.

NATIONAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Slight Apparent Increase in the Bonded Debt—The Surplus.

WASHINGTON May 3.—The debt statement for April was issued by the treasury department yesterday. It shows an increase of the aggregate debt of $602,348.18. There was an increase of $400 in the interest-bearing debt, a decrease of $778,775 in the non-interest bearing debt, and a decrease of $1,380,723.18 in the surplus cash in the treasury. The total debt May 1, less $51,518,660.88 surplus cash in the treasury and $100,000,000 gold reserve—the greenback redemption fund—was $838,727,922.23, composed of $25,664,500 of 2 per cent. bonds; $559,664,530 of 4 per cent. bonds, and $831,-$314,912.85 on which there is no interest.

The Wealth in the Treasury.

Of the treasury surplus on May 1 national depositories held $17,378,373.46, against $17,503,749.40 on the 1st of April. Gold assets in the treasury aggregate $73,623,455.45, a decrease from April 1 of $6,520,813.89. The silver in store amounted to $439,012,987.17, nearly $5,000,000 more than a month ago. CUMMINGS WAS PREMATURE.

A Prospect for a Duel or Attempt at Horsewhipping.

WASHINGTON, May 3. — Congressman Cummings thought he detected a masher at work Sunday, and taught him the dangers of mashing. Mr. Cummings and his wife, with a party of ladies and gentlemen, were coming up from Marshall Hall on board the McAllister. A tall, handsome man sat opposite the group on the deck, and Mr. Cummings soon made up his mind that the stranger was trying to flirt with somebody in his party. After standing it as long as he could the New York representative jumped to his feet, and exclaiming, "These ladies, sir, are respectable," struck the stranger a terrible blow on the side of the face. Mr. Cummings struck the man again, when friends of both separated them. The stranger refused to give his name, but swore that he would have vengeance.

Must Fight or Be Thrashed.

One of his friends said Mr. Cummings would receive a challenge and if he refused to fight a duel he would be horsewhipped on the public streets. The aggrieved man's companions assert that Mr. Cummings was altogether too hasty, and that the man he attacked was a gentleman, who had no idea of insulting any of the ladies who were with the representative. They say he was simply admiring one of the ladies in a respectful manner. Mr. Cummings, according to his friends, has not yet received a challenge, and while they laugh at the idea of one being sent they are evidently much troubled over the outcome of the affair.

A CROW TO PICK WITH ITALY.

The Case of Nicolo Milo Gives Uncle Sam a Grievance.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Nicolo Milo, a naturalized citizen of the United States, is likely to become a national celebrity. Milo came from Italy to New York when about 10 years old, and resided there continuously until he was 29 years of age, having meanwhile been admitted to United States citizenship. On his return to Italy he was arrested and confined in an underground cell of a military prison and afterwards forced to serve in the Italian army, although he exhibited his certificate of naturalization.

Indemnity on the Other Leg.

Senator Manderson has introduced a joint resolution setting forth the facts in the case as transmitted to congress in a message from the president, requesting the president to take amicable measures to obtain from the Italian government a suitable indemnity for the injuries inflicted on Milo and satisfactory assurances that citizens of the United States visiting Italy for proper purposes shall not hereafter be imprisoned or pressed into the army of Italy for failure to perform military service, in cases like Milo's.

There Is Pepper in the Air.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Thomas J. Geary and General Cutting, congressmen from California, are reported to have had a rather serious personal encounter at Chamberlin's the other night, and it is said that a duel between the two men was prevented only through the friendly offices of Colonel Henry Watterson. The quarrel between Geary and Cutting is said to have grown out of the refusal of the former to introduce the latter to a party of friends with whom he was enjoying a midnight meal.

Agreed on Chinese Exclusion.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The conferees have reached an agreement on the Chinese exclusion bill. The basis of the agreement is said to be the senate bill, but it contains clauses providing for the registration of resident Chinese and for suspension of bail in habeas corpus applications.

Mrs. Harrison Much Better.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Mrs. Harrison has sufficiently recovered from her recent attack of lumbago to enable her to sit up again. Mrs. Harrison is regaining strength and last evening said that she expects to be able to leave the city at an early date.

SETTLED A POINT.

First Business Session of the Omaha Conference.

A QUESTION OF LAYMEN'S SEATS.

They Will Flock by Themselves, Those Who So Desire—A Spirited Debate Over the Matter—A Colored Brother Wins First Choice of a Chair and Takes His Full Rights—Some Wrangling Over the Business, with Remarks About "Shennanigan"—Reception of Delegates.

OMAHA, May 3.—By way of regular business the delegates to the twenty-first quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church met at Boyd's theater at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and were called to order by Bishop Bowman. The beautiful theater presented a most charming picture. Mrs. Chaplain McCabe, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Bishop Merrill, and others occupied boxes at the right of the stage, while on the left were Mrs. Bishop Ninde with her daughter; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Chamberlain, of Colorado; Mrs. Bishop Newman; Mrs. M. A. Clafflin; ex-Governor Evans, of Colorado, and Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Merrill. Bishop Newman read a scripture lesson, and then the great audience united in singing the hymn, "He Giveth the Increase." The opening prayer was delivered by Bishop Foss.

BISHOP MERRILL.

Election of Secretary.

Secretary Monroe called the roll of the delegates. Dr. Monroe and Dr. Hartzell were placed in nomination for permanent secretary of the conference, and the former was chosen. It is the fourth time that honor has been conferred upon him. Incidentally the vote developed the fact that over 500 delegates were present Dr. Moulton, of England, the representative of the Wesleyan connection there, was introduced to the conference. He is a rotund, rather auburn-haired man of perhaps 50 years and with a man of pleasant address and definite plans.

First Discussion of the Meeting.

The first rock that disturbed the smooth flow of affairs in the conference was an effort on the part of the lay delegates to secure sittings apart from the clerical delegates. Formerly the lay delegates have occupied seats with the ministers from their own conferences and some of them have a notion that they secured less consideration than they should. Others were of a contrary opinion. After a spirited debate the lay delegates were permitted to sit by themselves by the following vote: Clerical—yea, 162; nay, 135; lay—yea, 105; nay, 61. A recess to 4 p. m. was then taken.

WRANGLED OVER THE SEATS.

A Colored Brother Gets the Best One in the House.

Bishop Merrill was in the chair when the gavel fell for the afternoon session, which was held in Exposition hall, where all future sessions will be held. The allotment of seats was the first thing in order, but before it was taken up Dr. Thickley attempted to have the motion to allow lay delegates to choose seats by themselves reconsidered, and succeeded in getting it so modified that if a layman wanted to sit among the preachers he could do so. Then a wordy wrangle ensued on the allotment of seats. A colored brother, Rev. R. E. Gilham, of Missouri, secured the first choice and took the best one in the house amid much laughter.

"Shennanigan With the Hat."

The drawing of lots progressed, but F. J. Young, of North Dakota, took umbrage because his name came not, and plainly stated that "there was some shennanigan with the hat," and quite a heated colloquy ensued. At 6 o'clock all the seats had not been assigned, as quite a number were insinuating that they were not getting a fair shake (shake of the hat.) "Praise God Whom All Blessing Flow" was sung and the delegates adjourned for the day to avoid further strife.

Reception to the Delegates.

Last night the delegates and the visitors were tendered a reception by the mayor and city officers. The meeting was called to order by Bishop Newman, of Omaha, and after the usual devotional exercises Mayor George P. Bemis was introduced and delivered the address of welcome in which he extended the hospitality of the city to the Methodists and their freinds. President Davis, of the city council spoke of "Our City Government" detailing the history of Omaha from its birth to the present day. He spoke of the phenomenal growth of Omaha, and closed with words of welcome.

A Famous Orator Speaks.

Hon. H. D. Estabrook, whose fame as an orator extends even to the national capital, spoke on "Our Guests and Ourselves." The young man's words were highly applauded, and after his allotted time had expired he was urged to go on. "Western Methodism" was the theme of an excellent speech by Judge Jacob Fawcett. He described the trials and hardships of the western circuit rider, and dwelt upon the great influence which Methodism now exerts in the west.

The Silver-Haired Bowman.

The response to the speeches was by Bishop Bowman, whose silver hairs and lovable countenance won the hearts of all. He spoke of the doubt with which the conference was given to Omaha, but stated that the doubts had been dispelled by the hospitable treatment and ample accommodations given the delegates. The delegates were then presented to the mayor and the bishops, after which refreshments were served in the banquet hall adjoining and an hour was spent in making new friends and renewing old friendships.

Helped Convict John Brown.

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., May 3.—William Rightstine died a few days ago at Shepherdstown, aged 85 years. He was foreman of the jury that convicted John Brown of treason in 1859. Within the last three years four of the jurors living in this county have died. Rightstine's death leaves only one survivor of the twelve who composed that jury.

First of the Kind in Germany.

BERLIN, May 3.—The marriage of Fen Lee, a Chinaman, and Agnes Gertung, of this city, is being commented upon with surprise, this being the first alliance of this kind announced in Germany.

WHO WAS THIS OFFICER?

A Murder Committed Twenty-Six Years Ago Just Reported.

CINCINNATI, May 3.—An investigation is being made of a story told by Mrs. Jennie Britton, a respectable colored woman, who resides near Mainville this county. In the village store a few nights ago, hearing the recital of a recent brutal and mysterious murder, she thoughtlessly said: "I know of a worse murder than that, and it was never found out." Startled at her words she refused to say more for some time, but after several days importunity she told the story.

He "Flashed a Big Roll."

Mrs. Britton says that 26 years ago she was employed to clean the rooms in a Cincinnati bagnio kept by Mattie Wagner. One day she saw a federal officer in the room of a girl named Mollie. He was partly intoxicated and had a large roll of money in his hands. Next morning when Mrs. Britton went into the cellar for coal she saw the dead body of the man she had seen the day before. The landlady did not seem surprised, and giving her a number of presents urged her to be quiet or she with the rest of the inmates of the house would be arrested. Mrs. Britton went home and never returned to the house.

Picked Out the House Again.

She had not been in the city for years, but being brought in by a detective picked out a house on Plum street which she said was the place. On investigation it is proved that Mattie Wagner did live there girl at the time named, and had with her a named Mollie, who answers Mrs. Britton's description. Wagner is dead, but Mollie, who was in her house, has been located in Chicago, where she is doing time in the workhouse for drunkenness. There is no clue to the officer's identity or what became of his body.

Another Shipload for Russia.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Russian relief ship Tynehead sailed from Dow's Stores, Brooklyn, at noon yesterday. Miss Clara Barton and Mrs. Dr. Elliott, of the Red Cross society, were present when the steamship started. The vessel was decorated with bunting, and carried the flag of the Red Cross society at the main. There were no ceremonies previous to departure, as Miss Barton objected to a demonstration. The steamship was chartered by money subscribed in Washington through the Red Cross society, and the loading was donated by David Dow's Sons The vessel carried 116,357 bushels of corn and 500 sacks of flour donated through the Red Cross society.

Wonderfully Good at Imitations.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—W. J. Hendley, generally known as "the Wizard of the National Museum," has resigned his position. Mr. Hendley has been connected with the National museum for the past ten years, and his imitations of stones, plants, leaves, fruits, antique relics and figures representing human and animal life both from pictures and living models have been marvelous. One of his greatest feats was the production of artificial ears and noses, and his skill in this kind of work was so great that he received orders from all sections of the country from those who were so unfortunate as to lose those necessary members.

Strike in the Stone Quarries.

QUINCY, Mass., May 3.—Work was suspended on all the Quincy quarries yesterday. The price list agreed upon May 1, 1890, between the quarrymen and manufacturers having expired April 30, 1892, and no satisfactary settlement in regard to the amount to be paid the men from May 1, 1892, having been arrived at, it was voted by the quarrymen to work until May 4. On that day if no satisfactory list is agreed upon the strike will begin in earnest. The demand first made by the men was for 25 cents per hour for average men, against 21 cents which has been the price to this month.

Expelled from the Economites.

PITTSBURG, May 3.—Henry Feicht, a prominent member of the Harmony Society of Economy, has been expelled by the Duss faction, who are followers of Dr. Teed, of Chicago. Mr. Feicht has appealed to the Beaver county courts, and the litigation now in sight promises to swamp the Economites. President Henrici is opposed to the expulsion, but it was decided against his wishes. The accounts of Trustee John Duss are being audited in order to sift the charge against him that he has been playing fast and loose with the society's cash.

TWO BAD RAILWAY WECKS.

Three Men Killed on the Monon—A Chicago and Erie Crash.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The sleeper on the Chicago and Erie railway went through a small bridge near Crown Point, Ind., yesterday, turning over several times and landing bottom side up. There were but five persons in the car, and all were hurt as follows: G. W. Granger, traveling agent for the Blue and Canada fast freight lines, Detroit, arm dislocated; E. S. Barbour, Detroit, contusion of forehead and left leg hurt; T. R. Bowes, scalp wound; Henry Brown, scalp wound and left leg hurt; colored porter injured internally, not serious.

At Otis, Ind., a freight carried away a trestle yesterday morning just as a freight train on the Monon was crossing. The engine and twelve cars went into the break and three trainmen were killed. Their names are given herewith: Engineer J. C. Murray, Fireman James Brown and Brakeman Elmer H. Brown.

KEELEY'S NEMESIS.

An Avenger on the Dwight Specialist's Trail.

SHE DEMANDS HIS MONEY OR BLOOD

A Letter Calling for $1,000 and Hinting at a Dynamite Experience Unless It Is Paid—"Frankie" Parsons' Idea of Her Alleged Husband's Value—The Doctor Asks Help of the Chicago Police, Who Respond, But So Far Fail to Catch Anybody.

CHICAGO, May 3.—Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, the wealthy proprietor of the famous bichloride of gold establishment at Dwight, Ill., is threatened with death by a dynamitard and several of the best officers at the Central station are trying hard to locate and place under arrest the misguided fanatic who makes the treats. Dr. Keeley's would-be executioner is a woman, for at least is supposed to be a woman, or her letters are signed with a woman's name. She calls herself Frankie Parsons, and says Dr. Keeley is responsible for her husband's death and demands $1,000 as the price of his life.

Asked for Police Protection.

Dr. Keeley came to Chicago last Friday for the purpose of reporting the case to Chief of Police McClaughry, who is his warm personal friend. The doctor was very much agitated when he met the chief and the information was given in the strictest confidence. The doctor laid a letter on the chief's desk and related the full story of the threats made by the woman. He explained to the chief that the woman said she was informed of every move he he made, and asked that a police officer in citizen's clothes be detailed to protect him while in the city.

A Sleuth on the Trail.

The chief granted the request, and a trustworthy man dogged the physician on his several trips to and from the city hall to the Tremont house, where he registered. He remained there until Saturday evening, when he returned to Dwight.

Before Mr. Keeley left the chief's office Major McClaughry called in his assistant, Mr. Hubbard, and explained the whole case to him. The letter was retained by the police and the affair was placed in the hands of Chief Inspector Marsh. Since Dr. Keeley laid the case before McClaughry the postoffice has been watched, but there have been no developments.

Threatens to Use Dynamite.

Chief McClaughry was seen in regard to the case but did not want to talk. He was asked: "Does she define her plan of effecting Dr. Keeley's death?"

"From what I understand of her letter she threatens the use of dynamite—that is, she refers especially to the manner in which Russell Sage was attacked. In another portion of her letter she begs the doctor to settle the matter and save her the necessity of murdering him."

The chief refused to discuss the matter at length, saying he had given the case to Chief Inspector Marsh. In just what way Dr. Keeley is held responsible for the death of Frankie Parsons' husband does not appear from the letter, although it is supposed that he was once an inmate of the Dwight sanitarium and died either while under treatment there or after leaving the place.

THAT THREATENING LETTER.

Doesn't Care if She Is Discovered, and Demands $1,000.

The letter was mailed to Dr. Keeley April 27 and reached him the same day. It was inclosed in a plain envelope dated Chicago, April 27, and addressed "Leslie E. Keeley, Dwight, Ill." The handwriting is evi ently disguised. The missive covers the four pages of an ordinary sized sheet of letter paper. It is as follows:

"MR. KEELEY, GENTLEMAN:—I write this to remind you of the one thousand dollars, 1,000, which I must have right away in payment for my husband who died leaving my child without means of support. You may think I will not do it, but I write to assure you that I am a determined woman and the world will soon know how thoroughly a determined woman can do a piece of work when she once starts out. For the bible says whosoever sheddeth blood his blood shall also be shed.

A Hint at Russell Sage's Case.

"I want you to know that I am fully posted as to every move you make both at home and elsewhere, and that you cannot possibly escape the fate that awaits you. I feel that I will be forgiven by God for avenging the loss to my child, and also hope you will forgive me. You may now hunt me down and discover who I am, but I care not, for all will soon be over. I advise you to give the thousand dollars ($1,000), and believe you will listen to my advice when you think about how a New York millionaire was treated. Hoping that you will prevent my crime and the murder, I, for convenience, sign myself by another name. Send letter care of general delivery. FRANKIE PARSONS."

Neither a Crank Nor Woman.

In referring to the matter, Chief Inspector Marsh said: "I do not think the woman is a crank and it may be that the person who wrote the letter is not a woman at all, although a woman's name is signed to it. It looks to me very much as if the $1,000 demanded by the writer were the main object. Since the attempt to kill Russell Sage was made I have been expecting something of this kind to occur in Chicago. * * * The writer was perfectly sane. She seems to court arrest and defies the doctor to report her to the police. There can be no mistaking the meaning of her words."

TO MUSICIANS.

Every singer knows that it is of the utmost importance that the vocal chords be strengthened and assisted. Now if the person takes an opiate or narcotic to relieve a cold, it paralyzes the muscles, and if long continued, inflicts irreparable injury upon the voice. The ordinary cough remedy contains opium or chloroform. Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure is entirely free from any deleterious substance, either opiate or narcotic. L. H. Wiley, the well-known amusement manager and cornet player, of Peoria, is well-fitted from long experience with musicians, both on and off the road, to testify in these particulars. He says: "I have used Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure, and I think it is the best remedy for coughs, colds, lung trouble or bronchitis that is manufactured. It is a great medicine to clear the throat of hoarseness." If your druggist will not get this remedy for you, write to us. Small bottles 25 cents, large ones 50 cents.

From the Paw Paw Times.

Chas. Davenport is in Dixon trying his luck fishing.

Mrs. Robert Smith was out from Dixon this week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Teal Swarthout.

Arthur Wells was in Sterling and Dixon Wednesday. He let the contract for building his house to Dixon parties.

Uncle John Colvill after attending the convention Wednesday, went on to Dixon in the evening to visit with County Clerk Thompson's family.

A few weeks ago we published an item stating that uncle John Colville had been school treasurer for thirty years, and asked who could beat it. It now comes to light that there is a man in our county who can affirm that his record is nearly thirty-three years. County Supt. Edwards sends us a card from John McKinstry, of Nelson, stating in Mr. McKinstry's own handwriting that he has held the office of school treasurer of township 20, range 6, since the month of November in 1859. With a view to obtaining more information as to the long terms of office we again ask, who can beat Mr. McKinstry's record.

Oh What a Night. Go and see it.

—The executive committee of the Dixon High School Alumni will meet to-morrow evening at 7:30 at the residence of Joseph Petersberger, 209 Crawford avenue, to transact business.

—Prof. A. Bayliss, Thomas Diller, D. L. Miller and J. R. Adams, of Sterling, were in our city a few hours this morning on their way to Springfield to attend the republican convention.

—Aldina Lodge Knights of Pythias of Chicago, the largest and strongest lodge of the order in the State, exists as such no longer. Its charter has been revoked for vending liquor at a dance.

—J. W. Crawford has sent his string of young horses to Maple Park for regular exercise. Great interest is being taken in the many promising trotters that are being developed in and about Dixon.

—Henry Hillison, a leading citizen of China township, this county, is about to move to Chicago. He represents his town on the Board of Supervisors and is a respected citizen whom we regret to part with.

—The outlook is good for the May party this evening and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. Gallery tickets can be obtained by anyone desiring to listen to the concert for twenty-five cents.

—J. W. McAlpine will soon begin the work of tearing down the J. V. Thomas house, corner of Fellows street and Dement avenue, North Dixon, and on the sight thereof and extending a little farther east will be erected a residence that our citizens will be proud of.

—Gentle spring is again with us in all its glory, and the sleepless nymphs with their "April eyes" and ever harmless looks" make glad many hearts. May comes in a lamblike mood, while violets, butter-cups and blue-bells are now peeping through the blades of the grass and leaves in grove and meadow.

Oh What a Night. Go and see it.

—Dr. W. B. Donaldson, medical director of the Bedal Gold Cure Institute at Polo, came down to our city on the eleven o'clock passenger to attend to some business matters, also to take dinner and enjoy a couple of hours with his brother, Herbert, the druggist who has a pleasant smile for every one these days.

—At the Athletic exhibition Friday night at the Opera House Prof. George Brill and Prof. A. Locke, instructor at the State University, will assist the La Salle turners in their wonderful gymnastic exercises. They should be seen to be appreciated. Alvin Ramsey, of this city, will practice with his old class. A fine time is promised.

—E. H Groh has in his possession a medal that was worn during the campaign just previous to the election of William Henry Harrison as president. On one side is a picture of the General, and on the other a log cabin, a barrel of cider and an appletree. The owner prizes it very highly, as well he may, for it will be only a short time before those relics will have become invaluable.

—The dwellers on East Fellows street, North Dixon, have been caused considerable anxiety by a strange and fatal disease that has come among the fine old elm trees that shade that avenue. The disease first appeared among the trees at the Parsons' place and is working westward. Five have succumbed and the cause baffles the close inspection of noted horticulturalists.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Schick entertained the Pleasure Club last evening with a progressive party. At each table a different game was played. The several games were, cinque, tiddledywinks, euchre, angling and whist. Mrs. R. L. Morton won the lady's head prize, and Miss Martha Throop the foot. Charles Ebert had no competitor for the gentleman's booby prize and William McBride proved himself the best all 'round gamester for the evening.

—What the civilized world needs now is an international understanding and treaty regarding the coinage of silver. This explains why: President Harrison informs Congress that it is not compatible with the public interest to publish at this time the correspondence on the silver question, but adds that he has made and will continue to make every effort to bring about agreement of nations on the coinage of silver or its more extensive monetary use. Congress can hardly wish to risk the publication of the correspondence at a time when the policy and efforts of the Nation might thereby be defeated.

—A. G. Wolfenbarger, the principal speaker at the Prohibition convention in this city Saturday night, expressed the opinion that President Harrison and Secretary of State Blaine, are both bad men. You would imagine, if what the Prohibition Third Party speakers say is true, that they are both from Bitter Creek and from away up the stream. If, as these peculiar patriots believe, or pretend to believe, President Harrison and Secretary of State Blaine are the originators of most of the imaginary calamities which the speakers insist now threaten this land, it would be a logical movement for these reformers to join—or go back to the Democratic party and consolidate their forces against the President and his prime minister. Why all the saloon keepers on the face of the earth are not causing so much trouble to the Prohibition Third Party leaders as do President Harrison and Secretary Blaine.

—The Rev. Mr. Paddock of Denver, recently went to Creede, the famous new mining town, to do some evangelizing work, but soon left because of the difficulties, especially the general poverty of the people. Whereupon "The Creede Chronicle" does the Reverend gentleman up in this style: "Pulpit Powder Paddock is a poor stick. He declares what is untrue when he says we are poor. We inform that eminent sky-pilot that we paid two Mexicans twelve dollars to turn our presses for twelve hours on Monday night, and that common laborers are getting fifty cents an hour. We venture to say that it is good betting that if the audience had dropped a hundred or so into Paddock's caddy his story of the camp would have been different. We stand ready to boost the churches and give them an even break with the theatres; but we want standard-gauge preachers. We have had enough of two-by-four talkers. If the right one will give us a date we will bill the town and guarantee him a good house."

Sterling Gazette: Every body is familiar with the story of the three wise men who went to sea in a tub and the accident that beset them on that perilous adventure, but there are but few who know of the perils that hedged in three of our married men who after purchasing tickets from Chicago to Sterling yesterday, concluded for a little sport, as well as economy, to beat their way home from the city and to do so smuggled between the baggage cars of the night passenger. All went well until they reached Dixon when they had an experience not down on the program. Early last evening three men were detected in the act of forcing a freight car door on the Central road, but they effected their escape in the darkness. Not to be fooled in their quarry Marshal Ball and his assistants kept a vigilant watch at the two depots, and when the train on the C. & N. W. road stood at the Dixon depot, they found the three travellers from Sterling. One less wise than his companions jumped off on the further side of the car and started to run. This had a bad aspect and the officers opened up a fusilade, and when one of the shots nipped the flesh on his right arm, he laid down in the wet grass and roared lustily. He and his friends were taken to headquarters and examined, but were not released until a telegram from elsewhere located the actual criminals and cleared those in custody. The inside of the coaches will be good enough for the party hereafter, as it was too much of an experience for the saving.

CIRCUIT COURT.

A decree of divorce was filed in the case of Lizzie Grobe vs. George Grobe. A. C. Bardwell appeared for the complainant.

C. F. Preston, attorney for the plaintiff in the attachment suit of Charles Pierce against Jas. J. Madden, obtained leave of court to file additional plea.

Several old cases that had been on the docket for years were stricken therefrom and leave of court obtained to have them re docketed for good and sufficient reasons.

The taking of testimony in the Morehouse case was completed last evening. Not a little of the testimony was vague and uncertain, so much time having elapsed since the happening of the accident concerning which the suit is brought that but a few of the witnesses can state positively what was said and done on that occasion. W. D. Barge made the opening argument this morning followed by City Attorney E. E. Wingert who made a very strong argument in behalf of the city. Mr. Morrison then addressed the jury in an effective manner and was followed by Wm. Barge who made an able argument for the plaintiff.
